The Botanist Gin

Built in 1881 when puffer-supplied coal was available as an alternative fuel to local peat, it is likely that Bruichladdich Distillery was specifically designed to produce the purest unpeated spirit possible.

Sadly, none of that 19th century spirit survives, but the original Victorian machinery has allowed an unparalleled legacy of craft distilling to trickle down through the generations of men who make this sophisticated Islay dram.

22 hand-foraged local botanicals delicately augment nine berries, barks, seeds and peels during an achingly slow distillation.

This first and only Islay dry gin is a rare expression of the heart and soul of the remote Scottish Island.
